Profile

I'm a Java backend developer based in Barcelona. I've spent over four years at Inetum, from intern to Senior Software Developer, evolving public-sector applications with Java, Spring and Oracle. Day to day I make most of the architecture decisions on the features I own.

My focus is getting systems to do on their own what used to be done by hand: tuning heavy queries, migrating complex PL/SQL logic to Java, and automating processes. I don't think a backend makes sense in isolation, so outside work I run a homelab, automate with n8n and build with AI agents.

Experience

Senior Software Developer · Inetum
Jan 2026 – present · hybrid

- I run feature work end to end, mostly on my own, and decide the architecture: whether something should be a job, a manual service, or something else.
- I integrate data from other public bodies into our applications.
- I automate processes so users no longer have to act manually.
- I resolve complex production incidents and help teammates, including onboarding new people to the project.

Java Developer · Inetum
Jul 2023 – Jan 2026 · Barcelona, hybrid

- High-cost Oracle queries cut to half their time or less, often to a quarter.
- Jobs replacing recurring manual tasks: extracts, reports and checks.
- Logic migrated from PL/SQL to Java.
- Automatic email notification of errors.
- Integration with REST and SOAP services.

Software Developer Intern · Inetum
Oct 2022 – Jul 2023 · Barcelona

- Support on enhancements and bug fixes in internal web applications.
- First contact with the Java, Spring, ExtJS and Oracle stack, and with Scrum.
- Training in Angular, Ionic and NestJS (training only, not my working stack).
